

ARCHITECTURE PLAYHOUSE

... making space for your life

Sunday December 6th 2009

Yapeen, Castlemaine 10am - 4.30pm

Presented by Peter Cowman BArch, director of the Living Architecture Centre

$85 Materials and vegetarian lunch included

Booking: livingarchitecturecentre.com

Phone: 03 9005 5833 eMail: sheltermaker@gmail.com

Imagining your Dream House and coaxing it into Reality is the theme of this fascinating 1-day hands-on workshop.

Using simple materials and tools plus a generous dash of creative thinking this free-fall into the world of architecture will forever change how you think of houses, jobs, mortgages, sustainability and even life itself!

This hybrid of instruction and play will encourage a deeper understanding of the role buildings play in our lives and foster the rediscovery of the timeless architecture we create in childhood.

Make and take home your dream space!

Peter Cowman is an Irish architect, teacher, builder, writer and the director of the Living Architecture Centre, the internet school of architecture. He began teaching people how to design their own homes in 1989. He has a special interest in on mortgage-free self-building. He teaches and lectures internationally. Further information of all aspects of Living Architecture are available from livingarchitecturecentre.com